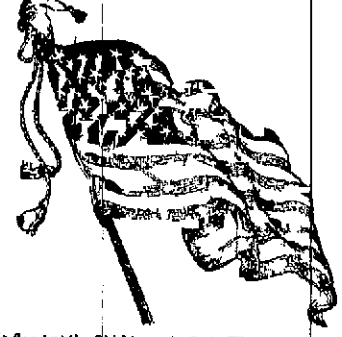
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY



No flag but the old flag—[illegible]
With its stars [illegible]
[illegible]
Whose blood bought [illegible]

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 1[illegible] 1862

The First Battle in Washington Territory

We learn that there was a scene of excitement on Friday evening at Vancouver. Mr. [illegible] Hill while walking on Main street saw [illegible] Smith come out upon the door-step of his store. "Mr. Hill," said he, "did you write the articles in the Times signed 'Campbell?'" "I did, Mr. Smith." "Then," said Smith, "I pronounce you a liar." "I am prepared," responded Mr. Hill, "to prove my statements and by a man on your own ticket." "No matter who you can prove them by, I am a liar."—"It is evident," rejoined Mr. Hill, "what you have come out of your house for. I do not wish to resort to violence, yet I leave the ground for no man." Smith all the while uttering remarks intended to produce a collision. Mr. Hill asseverating that he would prove against him every statement he had made, including the declaration that he wished ten thousand Yankees had been killed at Manassas. Smith struck at Mr. Hill, but hit him on the head; a collision followed, Mr. Hill getting the better of Smith; the claret ran from Smith's face; the contest continued until Hill had forced him across the street, and finally giving Smith a kick from his dexter foot in the rear of his position, Smith drew off to repair.

There was a large crowd gathered, and there appeared but one dissenting voice against the perfect correctness of Mr. Hill's conduct on the occasion, that came from a knight of the razor—a tool of the said Smith.

There has long been a knot of secessionists in Vancouver, who have reigned supreme.—They have been in the habit of denouncing the Government and siding with the rebels. Had they been in Washington or Baltimore, or anywhere near the enemy, they would long since have had the pleasure of being sent South or forced to enjoy whatever prospects they could through the grates of prisons.

These secessionists have combined to get the offices of Clarke County into their hands. They managed the convention they got up to work out their scheme and are now with lists and bawling endeavoring to put it through.

It is discreditable to Washington Territory that there should be such a set of men in power at Vancouver. It is an insult and wrong to the Government that protects them. And Clarke County can never expect to have the respect of the great Union party, soon to extend the power of the nation over all the country into rebellion,—while they countenance the moral treason of men who claim to be her leading citizens.

It is a misfortune that the Union party had not commenced the agitation of the great national questions here several weeks ago. A great majority of the people of Clarke County are lovers of the Union—and if time had been taken to show out the character of their would-be leaders, so that it would have been fully understood, secession in Clark County would, with the exception always of the knot of secessionists, have been wiped out at the present election.

Secesh everywhere dies hard. In the South it has caused much effort and the cost of much blood to kill it. Here it is equally bitter, but the good sense of the people will soon place it in the position we hold it in Oregon.

Whatever may be the result of the present election in Washington Territory, our Union friends must press on in their duty. They will assuredly reap their reward in placing Washington beside redeemed Oregon and California, "if they faint not."

NEW POST ROUTES FOR WASHINGTON TERRITORY.—In the list of Post Routes established by the present Congress we find the following for the mining region of Washington Territory:

From Walla Walla to Pierce City and Oro Fino, via Lewiston.
From Seattle to Snohomish.
From Walla Walla via Lewiston and Pierce City to Elk City.
From Walla Walla, via Antoine Plante and the Coeur d'Alene Mission to Hell Gate.
From Lewiston to Florence City.

A correspondent from Harper's Ferry (June 11th) writes to a Philadelphia paper the following incident:

According to the report of a deserter who came in to-day, Gen. [illegible] upon his return [illegible] sition to be dictated to the Government at Richmond. In reply to a telegraphic dispatch from Benjamin concerning the proposed movements of Jackson's army, the latter said: "Send me more troops and fewer orders." The deserter does not say how the wily Secretary received the intimation.

Details of Eastern News

NEW YORK, June 30.—Gen. Benham is under arrest for disobedience of orders in making an attack on the rebel batteries at Secessionville, on James Island [Charleston], on the 16th.

WASHINGTON, July 1st.—Advices from McClellan to [illegible] Saturday, says up to that time he had successfully carried out his plan to swing the right wing towards the rear, which required all forces north of and half way between Bottom's bridge and New bridge, and at the same time advanced his left towards James river, opening communication with the gunboats. The enemy's attack last Thursday in great force necessitated a strategic movement, and in falling back, in order to reach White House landing, he abandoned the sick and wounded. The ordnance commissary stores, troops and property were then embarked under superintendence of Gen. Casey, and on Monday were at Turkey Island in James river, 8 miles below Fort Darling and 17 miles below Richmond. McClelland's left wing touched James river yesterday near Turkey Island bridge. He immediately opened communication with Commodore Rogers of the Potomac flotilla, and through him with Washington. The result may be that the steam transports may relieve his soldiers reaching Richmond, and landing them near the Capital, after our gunboats have cleared away obstructions. Our army is now extricated from numerous swamps on the Chickahominy, and will be on high ground on James river.

NEW YORK, July 1st.—The Herald's correspondent, writing on 28th of June, states that Hooker's division are ordered to have one day's rations in their haversacks and be in line of battle at 7 o'clock Wednesday. A movement was made at 8 o'clock by a Massachusetts regiment attacking as skirmishers, pressing upon field and driving in the rebels. The next was reinforced by the remainder of Grover's Brigade and Excelsior and Jersey Brigades driving the rebels out of the woods, which our troops took possession of between 12 and 1 o'clock. They then advanced, receiving and returning several volleys of musketry, when the rebels fixed bayonets, started at double quick time towards the 1st and 11th Massachusetts and 26th Pennsylvania, who were ready for them. On came the rebels with yells, but the firm front of our boys alarmed them; they broke and retreated in great disorder, our troops driving them more than half a mile at the point of the bayonet, the rebels falling in heaps. More of them fell in this charge than at Fair Oaks. They were driven from their rifle pits and we occupied them until reinforced. Gen. Sickles had two horses shot under him.

CHICAGO, July 2d.—The Senate on Saturday substituted its confiscation bill for the one which had passed the House some days since.

FORT MONROE, July 1.—McClellan's army, though greatly exhausted from lack of rest and food, were still in excellent spirits. On Monday night the army began intrenching, which was being prosecuted as rapidly as possible. The first boat with reinforcements has arrived. Supplies are also coming in abundantly.

The enemy's loss in killed and wounded yesterday is said to be not less than 8,000, but we have nothing definite. Shield's army arrived to-day and proceeded up the James river.

WASHINGTON, July 3d.—The Senate has passed a bill requiring the Pacific Railroad Corporators to meet at Chicago on the second Thursday in September next, prior to which six weeks notice must be given.

The Senate postponed the bill providing a Territorial Governor for Arizona, until December.

WASHINGTON, July 4.—The House to-day concurred in the Senate's amendment to the Army Appropriation Bill. Among the items is one of $20,000,000 for the payment of bounty to volunteers, or the legal heirs of such as may die or be killed in the service.

The correspondence regarding the raising of a negro brigade in Hunter's Department was laid before the House to-day. Gen. Hunter says there is a fine regiment of persons whose late masters are fugitive rebels. This is in accordance with Secretary Cameron's instructions to Gen. Sherman, which distinctly authorizes the employment of all loyal persons offering their services in defense of the Union and for suppressing rebellion in any manner that circumstances might call for. There being no restrictions as to character or color, Hunter concluded that this authority was sufficient for the enlistment of fugitive slaves as soldiers.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Official dispatches from Memphis dated July 2d, say Col. Ellett with his ram fleet, has been able to maintain a constant intercourse with Farragut's fleet from his (Ellett's fleet) above Vicksburg through Louisiana. On the 26th, two rams, the Monarch and the Lancaster, went up the Yazoo river sixty five miles and found the river obstructed by a raft, which was protected by four guns. The object of the expedition was to capture the enemy's gunboats, which lay below the raft. The rams ran up close under the battery. Before they were able to succeed in the undertaking, the rebels set fire to their gunboats Van Dorn, Polk and Livingston and set them adrift. The rams were obliged to leave to escape burning. The three rebel boats were totally destroyed. The enemy did not fire upon us.

Later dispatches announce the arrival of some of Farragut's vessels above Vicksburg. They passed at five on the morning of the 28th of June, through a severe fire from sixty four guns!

CHICAGO, July 3.—The Memphis Avalanche of the 31st says: We understand from well informed sources South that the leaders of the Southern movement have determined on a new programme. It is said that the new policy is to fight as long as it is possible to do so, but when they can do so no longer, instead of surrendering and having their property confiscated and themselves disfranchised, the leaders will make a direct proposition to either France or England to become a colony or appendage. It is further said that the Southern leaders prefer, if the alternative is forced upon them, to become subjects of Napoleon. This may be a reason why Napoleon is engaged with colonizing schemes in Mexico. We give the above as the probable—nay, almost certain—policy of the Confederate leaders if they should be driven to the wall. We have good reason for the belief that it is their solemnly declared policy in the emergency supposed.

LOUISVILLE, July 4.—The guerrillas infest Webster, Davis, Henderson counties, Kentucky. General Boyle has sent a force after them with orders to put every man to the sword.

European Intelligence

NEW YORK, June [illegible].—The City of Baltimore, with Liverpool dates to June 18th, and Queenstown dates to the 19th, has arrived. English papers differ in opinion as to the battle of Fair Oaks. The London Times thinks it difficult for Confederate Generals to win victory in Northern papers, and insinuates the first day's battle was a Confederate victory.

Five thousand French troops were under immediate orders for Mexico.

Important Report of Gen. Totten on Coast Defences

Gen. Totten, Chief Engineer of the Department, has replied to the inquiries on the subject of the changes which may have become necessary in the kind and form of [illegible] defence. He based on the following principles, which have always been maintained by engineers, namely—forts must fall before a competent land attack, and that forts are competent to resist attack of vessels. Both these principles have been well settled by military experience and have received full illustration in the recent attack on Fort Pulaski.

After an elaborate argument he states the following conclusion:

1. That the plans of our seaboard batteries of the simplest character cannot possibly be improved.
2. That the materials being the strongest, most indestructible and imperishable that is possible, no change can be made in these with advantage.
3. That iron has been freely used for years past to guard the throats and [illegible] exposed parts of those batteries, and its further use is perfectly easy in the existing works to any extent, and is a part [illegible] it will be applied where [illegible] walls may be entirely iron covered.
4. That all the changes in ordnance and projectiles are greatly in favor of land batteries and against vessels in any combat between the two.
5. That guns of unlimited size can easily be mounted and covered on land.
6. That no vessel can be built and floated that will not be penetrable to projectiles from such guns.
7. That one shot rightly delivered will probably sink the vessel, while the fort cannot be seriously injured by the return fire of the vessel.
8. That the methods of naval warfare cannot avail in such contest.
9. That all the best results of modern science, skill and experience are incorporated with these defences as soon as these results are found to be reliable.
10. That while forts can now, as always heretofore, be readily reduced by land batteries, they cannot be reduced when duly armed and manned by vessels.
11. That the use of steam is a very great and the only exclusive advantage which modern times have afforded to vessels.
12. That this advantage can be countervailed only by increasing the number and especially the calibre of the guns of the land batteries.
13. That the need for a full supply of guns for our forts is very great. The want of them is dangerous.
14. That large abatises are insisted upon and to be furnished immediately.

It is not intended by what has been said to dispense with the employment of floating defences for our coast at the different points where their use is advantageous.

The opinions of Gen. Totten will have great influence in the action of Government in regard to coast fortifications. If steamers can be made impenetrable to cannon shot, forts can also, and it is a manifest fact that cannon can be fired with more precision from land than on the water. We are looking for some movements towards fortifying the mouth of the Columbia River.

Among the charming customs of the Siamese people is one which will particularly commend itself to people who hate children and are bothered by noisy boys. Homicide in Siam is punishable at a regular tariff of price. Thus, the penalty for killing a babe of from one to three months is six ticals, or about $3.50; for a child of four years about $10; for a boy of ten about $[illegible], and for a man between 20 and 50 nearly $30. Beyond the age of forty years the penalty decreases, so that it is no more expensive to kill an old man of from 80 to 90 years than an infant of two months. Women can be killed at two thirds of the rates for males. Another pleasing custom is that which allows a man to hire out his wife to his creditor as a slave and thus cancel his debt by means of her toil.

COLONIZING VIRGINIA.—Business men from Philadelphia have gone down to Virginia in considerable numbers to open stores as the country becomes pacified, and to show the people of that region how trade ought to be conducted. Numbers of farmers have also gone to buy farms and improve. They report prices amazingly low, with a general disposition to sell and get away from the region, but titles are uncertain and dangerous. In nearly every county in Virginia where the armies have been the offices of record have been gutted by marauders and the records destroyed, scattered or lost. One prisoner of this kind showed a handful of deeds, wills, etc., which he picked out of the mud, while the ground was thickly covered with similar documents, books of record, etc. These difficulties must all be cleared up before Northern men will venture to invest in these choice Virginia lands, even at low prices. That done, there will be a rush of farmers sufficient to colonize thousands of now desolated farms.

PUBLICATION OF WAR NEWS.—The President has ordered a Military Commission to meet on the second Monday of July for the trial of editors and correspondents of certain journals which have violated the orders with respect to the publication of matters calculated to give aid and information to the enemy.—Gen. Harney and Colonels Taylor and Craig will be members of the Commission.—National Intelligencer.

Liberty never grows old, but like the Countess in the German story, when won by the pleasures of peace, she renews her youth with a bath of blood.—Union.

The population of Ireland is said to have decreased three millions in fifteen years.

The Daily Oregonian.

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

THE DAILY OREGONIAN may be had at the Franklin Book Store, and at Charles Barrett's, Front street.

ALARM OF FIRE.—An alarm of fire last Saturday afternoon, proceeding from the Union Hotel on corner of First and Yamhill streets, started the "boys" of the different fire companies on the quick jump, and we were much pleased to see the prompt and agile activity displayed by each and all, in which the hose were laid, engines brought into play, and water thrown on the building in an incredible short space of time. We believe there is no city extant that can produce a better or more prompt and efficient fire department than Portland. Each and all appear to be on the constant watch, and by the time the bell gives the second tap every member is on the move. A fire stands but a poor show in this place, as evidenced from the fact that no fire of any importance has ever occurred within the city limits since the organization of the fire department; and this is all the more extraordinary when we reflect that there are hundreds of old shells and heaps of combustible material scattered all over the city. Our fire boys deserve great praise for their vigilance, which is highly necessary, especially in the hot and dry summer season. The fire originated, in the above case, from [illegible] from the chimney of a machine sh[illegible]ng the Union Hotel, which caught in the shingles of the roof. The blaze was extinguished before any damage was done.

FERRY LICENSE.—The County Commissioners Court for Multnomah County granted a ferry license to W. H. Frush to run a ferry across the Willamette river, opposite this city, for the term of three years. The places of landing are at the foot of Stark street, on the city side, and at the bank directly opposite on the east side.

BEEF AND MUTTON.—Large droves of cattle and sheep are continuing to be ferried across the river at this place, on the way to upper Columbia and the mining region.

EXCURSION.—Quite a number of children and youths crossed the river on the ferry yesterday about noon, on an excursion to East Portland, and we doubt not, enjoyed themselves finely.

ANOTHER BOAT.—The fine steamer Wilson G. Hunt has been put in complete repairs, and is now ready to commence regular trips between this city and the Cascades, carrying freight, passengers, &c., in connection with the Oregon Steam Navigation Company's steamers. She leaves this morning on her first trip.

HEAVY SHIPMENTS.—The steamer Rival brought down ninety-five tons of freight from Oregon City, on Saturday last. Large quantities of freight are daily arriving from the upper Willamette.

The overland stage now arrives regularly at five o'clock P. M., each day.

EXPECTED.—Bishop Simpson is expected to arrive here about the 20th of this month. He will preside at the next M. E. Church Conference.

Q. D.—We would like to know if the "pig's tail" that our friend of the Advertiser received the other day, had strayed into that establishment in consequence of being "blind?"

COPARTNERSHIP.—See advertisement of M. Seller & Co., Merchants Front Street, opposite the Metropolis Hotel. This firm has recently been formed, Mr. Seller associating with himself Messrs. Kraemer and Guntz, in partnership, and now constitute one of the [illegible] firms in our city, and will offer great bargains to all who may wish to purchase wares in their line.

The voters of the Southern States before the war are said to show, in the aggregate, that 633,793 were for the Union and 486,554 for secession. The Union majority everywhere was overcome by violence.

The attention of the community is respectfully solicited to the New Goods arrived by the last steamer, embracing a full line of Ladies' Silk Mantillas, [illegible] Bonnets, Florals, new style Hats, Challis, Poplins, and Debeges, together with a full assortment of Gents New Style thin Cassimere suits, Fancy Sacks, Broadway styles of Business Suits, and the very latest fashion of Parisian and New York Fancy Summer Panama Braid and Light [illegible] Hats. All the articles are now ready for sale, and can be seen at Harkers' New Building on First street, in the rear of Commercial Wharf.

The Medical and Surgical Institute of DR. L. J. CZAPKAY [illegible] red in a position which places it, as well as [illegible] or above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France, the highest prizes are often awarded to practitioners in this department of medical science, and they occupy, with [illegible], an equally lofty position in the profession. Ricord is an illustrious example, a shining light among the philo[illegible] stars of his age in Europe, and Dr. Czapkay has fully equalled him in this country; as a proof of which, the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a [illegible], and the honorary ad eundem degree. Selecting this as his field of operation, although qualified as a graduate of the University of Pesth, and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army, for more extended labors, Dr. L. J. Czapkay has bent his earnest attention to the cure of [illegible] and private diseases, in which he has become so great an expert, that he is now regarded as the LEADER in the [illegible] of his profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography are published as matter of interest to their readers in the most extensive journals. The Doctor's offices are at his Medical and Surgical Institute, on Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, nearly opposite the [illegible] of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco. We ask particular attention of our readers to the [illegible] certificates of remarkable cures, in another column of this paper. Persons not wishing to lose time in correspondence, [illegible] enclose $10 in their letters, and they will get immediate attention to their cases. Address, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. Call a Man.

(Concluded.)

Here was a quandary [illegible]. If he stopped the snake would coil about his body and squeeze him to death; if he continued the race he must fall from sheer exhaustion. Oh! he [illegible] scarce [illegible] to think how this [illegible] was to end. Instinctively he had [illegible] the direction of home [illegible] came over him. Suddenly flashed [illegible] his mind the true state of affairs [illegible]—the quilting, and, worse than all, the girls! The next moment he felt the [illegible] clammy monster in contact with his [illegible] his tail creeping around them in a [illegible] eating way, as by way of tickling [illegible] upon his knees.

This was too much for human endurance. With a yell such as man never uttered save in mortal terror, poor John set forward with break-neck speed and once more had the pleasure of seeing the snake resume his horizontal position, somewhat after the fashion of the tail of a comet.

On, on they flew! John forgot the quilting—forgot the girls—forgot everything but the snake.

His active exercise (he paid particular attention to his running) together with the excessive heat, had brought on the nosebleed, and as he ran, ears erect and head thrown back, his chin, throat and shirt bosom were stained with the flowing stream.

His first shriek had started the quilters and forth they rushed, wondering if some Indian was not prowling about. By this time John was within a few rods of the barn, still running at the top of his speed, his head turned so that he might keep one eye on the snake and with the other observe what course he must take. The friendly barn now concealed him from the sight of the girls.

He knew the girls were in the yard, having caught a glimpse of them as they rushed from the house. A few more bounds and he would be in their midst. For a moment modesty overcame fear and he haulted. The snake, evidently pleased with his rapid transportation, manifested his gratitude by again attempting to enfold the legs of our hero within his embrace.

With an explosive "ouch!" and urged forward by "circumstances over which he had no control," poor John bounded on. The next moment he was in full view of the girls, and as he turned the corner of the barn the snake came round with a whiz, somewhat after the fashion of a coach whip.

Having reached the barnyard, to his dismay, he found the bars up. But time was too precious to be wasted in letting down bars. Gathering all his strength, he bounded into the air, snake ditto; and as he alighted on the other side, his snakeship's tail cracked across the upper bar, snapping like an India cracker.

Again John set forward, now utterly regardless of the girls, for the extra tickle from the snake's tail as he leaped the bars, banished all his bashfulness and modesty, and again he had the pleasure of finding the snake in a straight line, drawing steadily at the hem of his solitary garment.

The house now became the centre of attraction, and around it he revolved with the speed of thought. Four times in each revolution, as he turned the corner, his snakeship came around with a whiz which was quite refreshing.

While describing the third circle, as he came near the group of wonder-struck girls, without removing his gaze from the snake, he managed to cry out—

"Call a man!"

The next moment he had whisked out of sight, and as quick as thought reappeared at the other end of the house—

"Call a man!"

Away he whirled again, turning the corner so rapidly that the whiz of the snake sounded half-way between a low whistle and the repeated pronunciation of double o.

Before either of the girls had stirred from their tracks he had performed another revolution—

"Call a man!"

Away he flew once more, but his strength was rapidly failing. Nancy Clark was the first to recover her presence of mind, and seizing a hoop-pole, she took her station near the corner of the house, and as John reappeared, brought it down upon the snake with a force that broke his back and his hold upon John's nether garment at the same time.

John rushed into the house and to his room, and at tea-time appeared in his best Sunday suit, but little the worse for the race, and to all appearances entirely cured of his bashfulness. That night he walked home with Nancy Clark. The next New Year they were married; and now, whenever John feels inclined to laugh at his wife's hoops, or any other peculiarity, she has only to say, "Call a man," and he instantly sobers down.

A Snake Story.—There is a young fellow by the name of Fay, residing near the National road, about five miles east of the city, who has recently excited the wonder of those who have heretofore entertained a horror of snakes. He spends the most of his time in hunting for and playing with reptiles of various kinds, and goes about with his hat and pantaloons pockets filled with them. A day or two ago, a party of gentlemen who were fishing along Wheeling creek met Fay, and one of them in a sportive manner took off his (Fay's) hat, when seven water snakes jumped off his head and ran in different directions. Fay then proposed, for a consideration, to go and bring another lot, which he did in an incredible short space of time, and upon being paid an additional sum of money, actually put the heads of the forked tongued reptiles in his mouth and bit them off one after another and threw their bodies away. On his upper jaw the fellow has but one tooth, so that he is compelled to tear and chew the necks of the snakes before he can separate the heads from the bodies. He has made himself so familiar with the habits and hiding places of the water snake that he can go out and in a few moments return with a hatfull.—Wheeling (Va.) Intelligencer.

SEWING MACHINES

ARE UNEQUALLED BY ANY FOR

BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION

—AND—

Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction and easily kept in order; should make a tight LOCK STITCH alike on both sides of the material and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton thread or silk directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity; and should have a straight needle; curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer, should stitch, fell, run and gather, and should be always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk, above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order, neither should it require a screw driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side or ravel.

MARYSVILLE, June 2d, 1856.

Dr. L. J. Czapkay, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the last of your medicine and do not think I shall want any more, as I feel very well except that I have not [illegible] strength yet, but soon will with the appetite I have. It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I called at your institute with my constitution, as I thought [illegible] perfectly [illegible] I thought you would be able to cure me [illegible] [illegible] pain in my back and head and strengthen my nerves so that I would not get excited and trembling [illegible] judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from those [illegible] skin and the ulcer from my throat and the entire [illegible] emissions which you said were principally the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest, my joy or my surprise, for except not having fully [illegible] strength I feel as well as any man can feel [illegible] twenty dollars over your charge, and [illegible] cured. If you think anybody will be [illegible] put this letter in the newspapers. [illegible] gratefully yours,
